

Focus on TEAMS Drives Engagement in the Workplace

The ADP Research Institute (ADPRI) surveyed over 19,000 employees across the globe to measure their engagement.

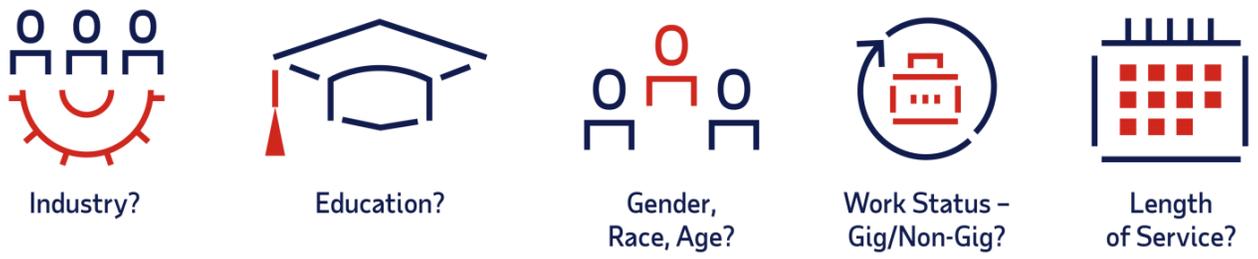

The results are clear:

No matter where an employee works or what industry they work in, being part of a team is the single most important factor in full engagement.

Engagement Around the World is Really Low

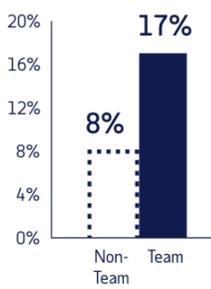

None of These Factors Drive Engagement

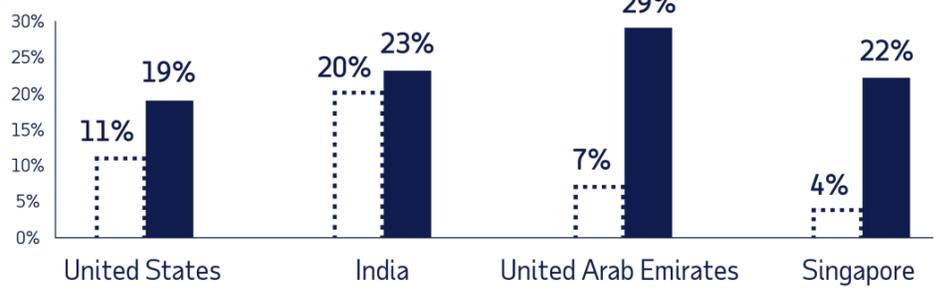

Teams are the Single Most Significant Driver of Engagement

Non-Team Team

Workers on a Team are 2.3X More Likely to be Fully Engaged

22% of Team Workers are Fully Engaged

What We Know about Teams

Some Teams are More Engaged Than Others

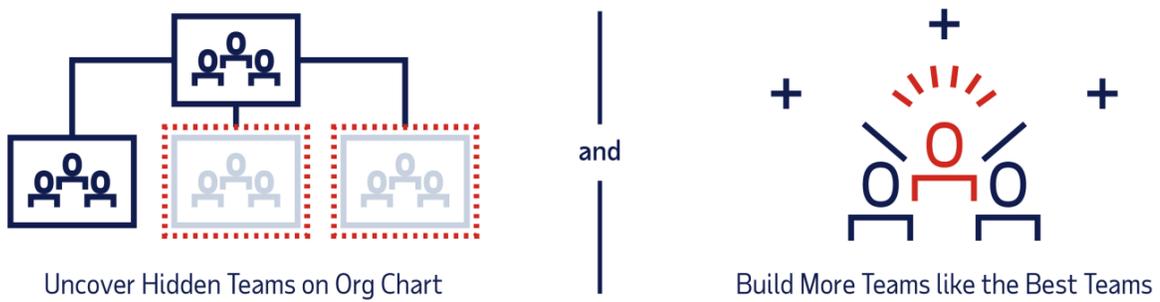

Virtually All Work is Team Work

12X More Likely to be Fully Engaged When Teams Trust Their Leader

Challenge: Increase Productivity in the Workplace

Download the full report at research.adp.com