Prior to ADP

Before using ADP, Nugent Sand Company used Paylogic. All of our employees' time sheets were handwritten and with all the locations and pay/cost codes, there were over 12,000 pieces of information.

Not only was the volume challenging to process, but I also needed to spend time deciphering everything because not every employees' handwriting was legible.

Saving time and money

ADP is a better fit for Nugent Sand Company. Now, employees use a drop-down menu based on their location and job classification. This saves me so much time and money since I no longer have to figure out how to get time sheets over to the main office and I can log on and see any of the information that may be needed.

There are more options available with ADP Workforce Now, like Time and Attendance, ADP Smart Compliance® and HR features. My favorite module is Time and Attendance.

Going paperless with ADP

My company transitioned to have paperless pay statements around April 2021. Implementing paperless statements was easy. ADP assisted me with rolling out paperless statements by providing very helpful guides.

Since going paperless with ADP, my employees feel empowered. Plus, the additional time it saves me allows me to do other projects without having to put many hours of overtime in.

Why ADP

The best part of partnering with ADP is the nice people. My ADP implementation experience was good. From the initial sales team, to all that are involved, they were very helpful. They followed through on what they said they were going to do.

I would recommend ADP Workforce Now to a peer because the system has everything in one place and our employees can update their own information, which is a timesaver!
