

Workforce insight, guided decisions

People at all levels strive for quick decisions — and seek trusted information to guide their actions. But data can be tough to get, hard to understand, and create more questions than answers.

Hear how all types of large organizations turn to ADP to help put it all together. Understand why deep workforce insight is increasingly important, hear how enterprises measure their workforce performance against ADP's vast data and relevant metrics — and learn how they've transformed data into actionable, decision-making insight.

With ADP, we can pull all of our data from payroll to headcounts, see trends for hiring and adjust our workforce from facility to facility.

Randall Shoemaker, HRIS analyst, RadNet Inc.

I am an avid ADP Reporting user. I find that it can answer almost any question that is asked of me... and that's just scratching the surface.

Jodi Lloyd, manager, HRIS, TriMas Corporation

Having the use of metrics and analytics was a game changer! This tool is great for quick reporting and provides much insight into the data.

Katie Ann Lucas, system administrator,
Metz Culinary Management

I like how much information that it provides. If we ever have a question regarding something, I can reference data analytics to get the information and data I need to work productively.

Kaitlyn Morris, payroll associate, Aldi

Analytics lets us be more predictive in how we do things, as opposed to reactive. The data is at our fingertips to reveal trends, forecast requirements and so much more.

Jaime Blankenship, HRIS administrator, Commonwealth Care of Roanoke
